Welcomed Transformers Bumblebee and Optimus Prime. They didn't think "ZOO Man" was a worthy addition to the Autobots.

ASH-TONISHING!

Ashley Roberts is breaking out on her own in more ways than one!

The Butterfly Effect, as well as the title of Ashley Roberts' forthcoming solo debut, is a theory which suggests a butterfly flapping its wings in China could cause a disaster on the other side of the world. (NB: losing 7-1 in a World Cup Semi-Final doesn't count.)

In the case of these tantalising pics of the I'm A Celebrity star, we suspect forgetting to take our recycling out tipped the global warming scales just enough to tempt the amazing American into slipping into a bikini while she holidayed on Ibiza.

The sun-kissed singer was taking some well-deserved time off to "recharge", before her UK tour later this month. One thing we all agree on: the ex-Pussycat Doll looks purr-fect!

20 things

To do with your life... now the World Cup is over

The month-long orgy of football has finished, which means you have no excuse not to actually do something else. Luckily, ZOO has a host of suggestions to keep you entertained

No1 See the Prem's new signings

The Premier League season starts on 16 August, but there are plenty of chances to cast your eyes over the exciting acquisitions well before then. Catch Alexis Sanchez, Liverpool's Emre Can and, er, West Ham's Mauro Zarate on BT Sport's pre-season coverage. See sport.bt.com.

No2 Dig the wellies out

Glasto's gone but festival season is far from over. Watch The Killers light up V Festival (16 August), Arctic Monkeys close another incredible three days at Leeds (24 August) and Deadmau5 spin Creamfields (23 August) into a frenzy.

No3 Watch the lawn bowls

England's football team might have blown it, but you can rely on the lawn bowls team to deliver (maybe). Head to Glasgow's Commonwealth Games (23 July – 3 August), get behind the athletes and grab a very quick peek at Usain Bolt in the 4x100m relay. Speaking of which...

No4 Race Usain Bolt (sort of)

Go to Virgin Media's interactive "Race Bolt" stage. Visit virginmedia.com/glasgow2014 to secure your place on the starting line. Don't forget your trainers.

No5 Laugh, drink and heckle

The Edinburgh Festival Fringe is the only event this summer guaranteed to have even more comical moments than a Brazil World Cup Semi-Final defeat. It kicks off on 1 August with a flock of funnymen ready to split your sides.

No6 Soil your underwear screaming

Bethesda releases its terrifying new must-own game The Evil Within on 29 August. Trust us, you'll want to leave the lights on while playing this one.

No7 Summon your inner rock star

Put years of awkwardly pretending to play Oasis' Slide Away to good use and enter the annual Air Guitar UK Championships in London for the chance to win a free trip to, er, Finland. Rock on!

No8 See the Pussy Patrol Down Under

The Inbetweeners 2 is rumoured to be even better than the first movie. We'll see you at the cinema on 6 August!

No10 Visit the beach

July has seen heat waves hotter than Spain, Ibiza and even Brazil. If that's not a good enough reason to dust off the beach ball, then perhaps these homegrown honeys (above) on Fistral Beach, Newquay, will do the trick...

No11 Catch up with Jack

The ongoing London-based series of 24 is utterly bonkers. Need proof? The US President gets drone-attacked in the centre-circle at Wembley. Catch up with Sky On Demand now!

No12 Upgrade your barbecue

Burgers are over. Buy ribs and smother this on top: 50ml teriyaki sauce, 50ml BBQ sauce, 50ml black treacle, 50ml apple juice, 2 x shots of bourbon and 1 x chopped red chilli. You're welcome.

No13 Head to Rio de Janeiro

Expensive, yes. But show off your tekkers on the Copacabana and there's every chance you'll be called up for Brazil's next national squad. Well, you've got more chance than Fred...

No14 Join the Sumo Run

Even if you're a bit rotund, you can still do your bit for charity on 27 July by strapping on a sumo suit and waddling your way to the finish line in the annual 5k Sumo Run in London's Battersea Park. Heavy.

No15 Look on the bright side of life

Head to London's O2 Arena and catch the Monty Python boys live on stage this week. It's timeless comedy brilliance.

No16 "Hang ten" in Cornwall

There's no need to swallow half the Atlantic at Britain's No1 surfing festival. Boardmasters (6-10 August) has loads of awesome free skate, surf and BMX events, plus top music from Bastille and Snoop Dogg/Lion!

No17 Become an extra, you can

Grow a beard, throw on a brown cloak and try to Jedi mind-trick your way onto the Star Wars not-so-secret set in the West Country. And if that fails, register on numerous extras sites for a chance to be in the biggest film of 2015.

No18 Park up at a drive-in cinema

Watch a classic movie from the comfort of your own car with Direct Line's fantastic Drive In Film Club at Brent Cross Shopping Centre during July and August. There are loads to pick from, but Top Gun is the pick! See brentcross.co.uk/events.

No19 Update your iPod

Stop listening to last year's Daft Punk album and revamp your tunes with some of this summer's top tracks:

It's perfectly natural to be experiencing withdrawal symptoms since Sam Faiers' departure from our TV screens earlier this year. But fear not, because you'll be seeing plenty more of the Essex babe in the near future.

The former TOWIE hottie has disrobed to celebrate her new role as the face of Ann Summers. Which is ironic really, because while it is equally as appealing, we're guessing her face won't be the first thing alerting eagle-eyed male shoppers.

Speaking about her new "Sexy For You" collection, the lovely-looking 23-year-old said, "I tend to wear a black or red set when I want to be sexy, but I love the plunge because it gives me great cleavage. We've had a lot of fun on the shoot and I'm really pleased with the results."

Not nearly as pleased as us, Sam...

Is it me, or are the instructions for electrical goods far too complicated? I mean, I just don't know that many languages

Words are powerful things. Sometimes, even a single letter H can attract helicopters

Similes: what are they like?

When I was at school, I spent half my time scared of fractions. I say half my time...

When I was at school, the place was run by a man with no arms, no legs and no body. We called him "the head"

When it was wet at school, we used to stay inside for "wet play". When it was cold, we stayed inside and listened to this really dull band

Between you and me, I was bullied at school [Crowd goes, "Ahhh"]. By pirates! You're not helping!

I've worked as a weatherman. In fact, does anybody want to buy a broken barometer? No pressure...

I didn't think I'd get a loan from the bank for my knitting business. That was until the day I turned up wearing one of my balaclavas

Planes, trains and massive cock-ups

If you thought transporting fuselages was plane sailing, think again...

What you're seeing might look like another colossal Roland Emmerich disaster movie, but there's no need to get in a flap because aeroplanes haven't started falling out of the sky.

These 737s were being transported on a freight train in Montana before the carriages mysteriously derailed, much to the astonishment of a passing speedboat.

We can't confirm if the driver was on autopilot or whether he had his head in the clouds, but there's no doubt that the cost of the accident will be sky-high. That said, it wouldn't be any surprise if the company responsible is also cited for fly-tipping...

HAYEMAKER

David Haye is pulling no punches – only in ZOO

EXCLUSIVE TO ZOO!

From Russia with love

I was in Grozny, Chechnya, for the heavyweight world title fight between Ruslan Chagaev and my pal Fres Oquendo last weekend – and I was blown away. I have never seen anything quite like it in terms of production value, including a crazy pre-fight show with breakdancers, Michael Buffer announcing and a stadium packed with 35,000 fans. And the best thing of all? The Chechen President put on the entire event for free!

After that, I headed to Moscow and bumped into heavyweight legend Evander Holyfield, who joined me for some food at light-welterweight great Kostya Tszyu's restaurant. It was like hanging out with boxing royalty.

I assumed Russia wouldn't be ready for the Hayemaker, but it certainly was. They're hardcore fans and loved me, even though I beat their boy, Nikolai Valuev.

I'd love to fight there one day.

Boxing royalty:
Kostya Tszyu &
Evander Holyfield!

Old pals act: Haye with Fres Oquendo!

EMAIL YOUR QUESTIONS FOR DAVID TO HAYEMAKER@ZOOTODAY.COM

IN NEED OF A HAYEMAKER THIS WEEK... KANYE WEST

Kanye West is a great musician, but he needs to turn down the diva levels a few notches and stop interrupting his shows to rant about fashion. I walked out of one of his shows once because of his ranting.

When people have paid to see you perform music, you've got to give them their money's worth!

Golden gloves

The gloves Muhammad Ali wore for his first fight with Joe Frazier have gone on sale for £300,000. They've got to be the ultimate boxing memorabilia to have on the mantelpiece, but the price tag is a bit beyond my budget, no matter how much I love The Greatest!

You'll never see any of my fight gear on sale. That's all tucked away for me to pull out and tell stories when I'm an old man, or give to family and friends as gifts.

ASK DAVID!

Saving British sport

It's been a miserable summer for British sport. First, the England team crashed out of the World Cup after just two games, then Andy Murray exited Wimbledon in the Quarter-Finals. Now, both Mark Cavendish and Chris Froome have had to retire from the Tour de France!

I guess it's been left to me to come back and save the day. I'm champing at the bit to get back in the ring now, so hopefully it will be soon and I can right a summer of wrongs!

Brazil mauling

I can't believe Brazil were violated like that against Germany! 3-0 would have been bad, but 7-1? How do you explain that?

Julio Cesar said they "blacked out", so were they out the night before? They must have strong team unity for all the players to "black out" at the same time!

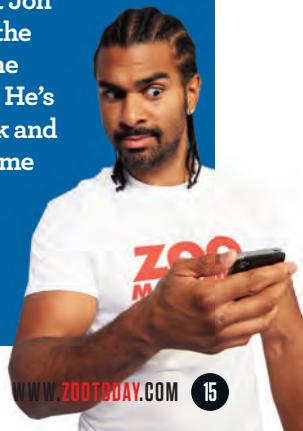

They've got a huge rebuilding job after getting smashed in front of such great support. They owe it to the fans to come back stronger.

Who is your favourite MMA fighter?

@Z_MCDON, via Twitter

It used to be Anderson Silva, but Jon Jones is the man of the moment. He's very slick and reminds me a lot of Silva in his prime.

FIRST DRIVE!

Peugeot RCZ R

French firm's most powerful production car ever takes on Brands Hatch – and wins!

Peugeot has hit back at the naysayers who said its original RCZ was a “poor man’s Audi TT”, with an R version which boasts revised suspension, race-ready styling and the most powerful 1.6-litre engine on God’s green Earth.

Developing 270bhp, thanks to a ‘roid-munching turbocharger, it can sprint from 0-60mph in around six seconds and on to a top speed of 155mph.

The front-wheel-drive motor chewed up the twisting Brands Hatch circuit; torque-steer and wheelspin under heavy acceleration were barely noticeable, while a clever slip-differential tidied up corners without scrubbing too much speed.

Turn off the electronic aids and you can drive on the ragged edge, thanks to a sorted chassis, solid suspension and an engine which pulls through the revs.

It’s an absolute hoot, and the only criticism is that it’s maybe too easy to drive fast. Peugeot could easily make this speed machine even more hardcore – and we would lap it up!

Thumbs up

Roof looks like a pert bottom, driving fast is a breeze

Vital statistics

ENGINE 1.6-litre turbocharged petrol
PERFORMANCE 270bhp
0-60mph 5.9 seconds
TOP SPEED 155mph (limited)
PRICE £32,000

Thumbs down

Isn't mad enough, nor as nice inside, as an Audi TT

The rivals

Don't fancy the Peugeot? Here's what £32k will get you

Renaultsport Megane 265 Cup

FROM £25,990

Alright, you don't get the sleek coupé looks of the RCZ R, but you do get epic performance from the 2.0-litre turbo engine and unrivalled handling in this category. Plus, it's one of the fastest hot hatches around the Nürburgring – and it's a whopping £6k cheaper than its French rival.

Audi TT

FROM £28,000

A brand new TT is set to hit showrooms later this year and it will boast more aggressive exterior styling and a fancy new "virtual cockpit". Prices will start from around £28k, which is a lot of premium car for the money. It won't be as powerful as the RCZ R, but it will certainly look the part.

Volkswagen Scirocco GTS

FROM £28,815

The lairiest of the 'Rocco family makes up for what it lacks in the power department with massive alloys, unique bumpers and bonnet stripes. Regardless, 0-60mph is despatched in 6.9 seconds, while an average fuel consumption figure of 53.3mpg will certainly please the bank manager.

Mile High Club

I hate to burst the bubbles of previous winners who were pictured reading the mag on the tops of mountains, but I'm going to anyway. Here I am with my copy at 37,000ft (11.5km high), while taking a bunch of ZOO readers to Magaluf!

DAVE BROWN, via email

This is very impressive dedication to the brand, Dave. Although we hope you weren't actually reading it while flying. You've won a Blu-ray player and a copy of The Zero Theorem. Congrats!

THAT'S GOTTA HURT!

The football factory

I went out with my mate after an epic World Cup game. Obviously inspired, we spotted a ball on a factory roof and had a kick-about. But he fell 6ft onto an anti-vandal fence, ripping his armpit apart. NATHAN BARTLETT, via email
That must have been the "pits".

Spike fright

I took a shortcut home after a night out at uni. I climbed over the security gates into my halls, but my foot slipped and my arm got caught on a spike and tore all the tissue around my arm. ALEXANDER RIJO, via email
For the sake of an extra five minutes, just stick to a more conventional route next time, Alex.

Shorely not

The missus made me walk an extra 10 minutes to get the ice creams, just in case. C BAMPSON, via email

We wouldn't want to buy ice cream from there anyway...

SQUADDIE SHOUT-OUT

I'm currently serving in Afghanistan and the only thing getting me through this tour is my little collection of ZOOs!

CORY BUDD, via email
Glad to be of service, Cory. We'll be sure to send some more out to you and the lads.

Eat and tweet

I was out shopping when I spotted this fridge with built-in Twitter. In the future, we want flying cars and jet packs – not a fridge that tweets!

KEITH, via email

Goodness, gracious

Here's one arcade game I won't be indulging in.

I think this warning is all we need, thanks.

Sarah, 29

"I joined ZOO No Strings for some casual fun and was taken aback by how many guys were up for nothing but great sex! I browsed through a few profiles and soon arranged to meet up with a guy. We met in a bar, and after a few glasses of wine and some kinky conversation, I knew I wanted him, so I took him back to mine for the best sex ever. Amazing!"

Alice, 21

"I joined ZOO No Strings and found one guy who was just my type. I was so attracted to him that I found myself sending him some naughty messages. He suggested I come over to his, but I was in such a rush that I forgot to put on any underwear... When I arrived, he soon found this out for himself when I showed him how much I wanted him."

Bethany, 26

"I work as an air hostess, but I never get to have any real fun in my work attire! I joined ZOO No Strings and was contacted by loads of guys who were turned on by a girl in uniform. I got talking to one guy who I knew I'd have my way with. He came over and I answered the door in my full uniform. I quickly welcomed him on board and gave him the ride of his life!"

Modern family

My wife wrote me an email, saying she was concerned we have communication issues.

I immediately sent her a WhatsApp, asking her to clarify. She messaged me on Facebook, saying not to worry but that sometimes, we're not as connected as she'd like.

I tweeted her I love her more than anything. She texted me, saying she loves me too and was just tired after a long day.

So I leaned over and kissed her goodnight.

The Hundred-Year-Old Man Who Climbed Out Of The Window And Disappeared

Bernard Jordan – the 90-year-old war veteran who escaped his care home for a reunion with his D-day comrades – is a legend in ZOO's eyes. And after watching this gloriously heartwarming Swedish flick, it's easy to see where he got his inspiration.

Allan Karlsson may be 100 years old, but his faculties are well and truly intact, as is his sense of adventure. One lazy afternoon, he flees an OAP home for an unexpected life in the fast lane – after running away with a thug's suitcase containing millions of krona. What follows is an outlandish manhunt for the elderly man who befriends a dork, a stunner and an elephant along the way.

If you like your humour peppered with Scandinavian sarcasm, it's impossible not to enjoy this.

Need For Speed

Films based on video games are usually crap (think Hitman and Street Fighter), but luckily this one passes the test.

Breaking Bad's Aaron Paul plays a street racer framed for a crime he didn't commit. Released from prison years later, he grabs the meatiest Ford Mustang he can and sets his sights on revenge.

Pay less attention to the script and instead focus on the gratuitous car porn, then strap in and enjoy the (semi-ridiculous) ride. ★★★★☆

Sniper Elite III

The third iteration of this beloved long-distance shooter rarely gets old throughout its lengthy run time, and watching enemy heads pop in glorious slow-motion from 100 yards is as rewarding as it can get for a first-person shooter.

Worryingly, it's littered with more glitches than a Brazilian World Cup defence, and the best way you can describe the many shortcomings is that it's very rough around the edges.

It's not a complete misfire, but it's pretty close. ★★★☆☆

EVENTS

Dawn Of The Planet Of The Apes

The first Apes film ended with a horrific worldwide pandemic. Ten years on, the human race is teetering on the edge of extinction. By contrast, the apes – lead by Caesar – are flourishing as a new community and growing with each day in intellect and power.

Andy Serkis (the motion capture genius who plays Caesar) insisted the film is a “peace movie”, and large parts are spent showing both species trying to find a way to coexist. But luckily, when conflict does erupt, things go bananas!

The two-plus hours are crammed with drama, A-list acting talent and some impressive CGI that doesn't need to resort to Michael Bay-sized pyrotechnics to grab your attention. Dawn Of The Planet Of The Apes is a perfect summer blockbuster. ★★★★

The Hot List

Morrissey World Peace Is None Of Your Business

Morrissey may have been feeling unwell of late (and had to cancel shows), but don't go thinking he's mellowed out. He's still the anti-hero, carnivore-hating fella he always was, with lyrics like, "Humans are not really very humane" on Earth Is The Loneliest Planet. It may be his tenth effort, but Mozza is still packing popstar heat. ★★★★☆

La Roux Trouble In Paradise

Where have La Roux been hiding since In For The Kill (Skream remix, obviously)? Well, Elly Jackson has ditched her silent partner. The result is a tighter disco sound that will garner more respect from old-school dance aficionados – who can now pay less attention to her perfectly-coiffed barnet and more on her catchy craft. ★★★★☆

The Zero Theorem

In a world where everyone seems to be obsessed with who got with whom on Made In Chelsea, it's easy to understand why computer hacker Qohen Leth (Christoph Waltz) is enlisted by scientists to prove life is meaningless. It's an interesting premise, but the biggest problem is that you need a PhD in WTF to understand what's going on with the plot. ★★★★☆

The Hooligan Factory

It could've been a funny take on Green Street or The Football Factory, but after the fifth exhausted football joke, you start to lose faith. The firm "The Hooligan Factory" try to regain their status in the hooligan world as their leader, Dex, is released from jail. It's perfectly decent Sunday viewing, but not quite the tonic for curing post-World Cup blues. ★★★☆☆

ANDY SERKIS

HI, ANDY! YOU FILMED YOUR LATEST MOVIE, DAWN OF THE PLANET OF THE APES OUT IN VANCOUVER. HOW DID IT FEEL SHOOTING DEEP IN THE FOREST?

It was a challenge, but the behemoth production was worth it! We were shooting in the freezing cold, in the middle of winter, and every day we were knee-deep in mud! It didn't stop raining and we were filming on top of trees, rocks and all sorts. I had to do a few jumps and big leaps and it's a miracle I didn't slip and break my neck!

IT'S A GOOD THING YOU'VE BEEN WORKING ON YOUR APE-LIKE BALANCE, THEN! HOW WAS IT PULLING ON THE MOTION CAPTURE SUIT AGAIN?

It requires massive balls to put it on in the first place, but it's slightly easier for me in Apes because there's a great cast of other characters who are working with me as well. But that also meant it wasn't quite so great for the crew...

ER, WHY DO YOU SAY THAT? Let's just say that when you're working in 100 per cent humidity, you really don't want to be standing next to a bunch of guys who have been wearing skin-tight motion capture suits for a few hours!

SO DOES THAT MEAN YOU HAD TO BE HEAVILY TALCED BEFORE SQUEEZING

INTO THE SUITS?

If only! I can't imagine anything more lovely...

YOU DID A LOT OF APE RESEARCH FOR THE FILM SERIES. DID YOU HAVE ANY SCARY MOMENTS WHILE YOU WERE IN THE JUNGLE?

There were a couple of hairy moments. I was charged a few times by some massive silverbacks. I still have some footage somewhere of me dropping my camera because this gorilla was suddenly just a few feet away and coming at me. Don't get me wrong, they're incredibly peaceful, unless you do something to p*ss them off...

AND DID YOU RUB ANY UP THE WRONG WAY?

Not so much in the jungle, but when I was working at London Zoo, there was one male called Bobby who hated me. I'd formed a bond with some females, so he started eyeballing me and slowly gathering this pile of stones to lob at my head!

YIKES! YOU'VE WORKED ON BOTH GODZILLA AND KING KONG, BUT WHO DO YOU THINK WOULD WIN IN A FIGHT?

It would have to be King Kong because he's got one hell of a right-hand!

SOPHIE READE!

Wowzers! Take a seat, gents: the marvellous Miss Reade is back and, by her own admission, boobier than ever

BACK AND ONLY IN ZOO!

ZOO aficionados may have noticed the arrival (or return) of a host of bare-naked beauties in recent weeks. Well, guess what? We've got another one – and this blonde bombshell is arguably the cream of the crop.

Since reigning supreme as the champion of Big Brother in 2009 (with the highest percentage of winning votes any housemate has ever received, fact fans), Cheshire cutie Sophie Reade has continued to wow us with her remarkable 30GGs and claims, after five bra-busting years as one of the nations top glamour girls, they're currently the largest she can recall.

"Call it perfect timing, but my boobs are bigger than ever right now," she beams. "Not that I'm complaining, of course. It just gives me the perfect excuse to present them to the world."

Indeed it does, as the following pages – capturing Sophie's first official ZOO shoot – effortlessly demonstrate... ➤

SOPHIE READE!

SHE'S BACK AND
ONLY IN ZOO!

“50 Shades Of Sophie. Now that would be a hit!”

HELLO, SOPHIE!
YOU'RE IN THE ZOO
STUDIO FOR THE
FIRST TIME. HOW HAS IT BEEN?

Great! This shoot has been a bit different, so I've enjoyed mixing it up. I'm glad the stylist was prepared for my boobs, too! Honestly, they will not stop growing and I can't believe how massive they've become. I can't find bras to fit me!

SOUNDS LIKE QUITE THE DILEMMA...

It certainly makes swimwear shopping a bit tough, as I have to squeeze them right in. I think it's just easier to go topless on holiday; no tan lines, no faff – no trouble! ➤

SOPHIE READE!

SHE'S BACK AND
ONLY IN ZOO!

IS A BEACH BREAK IN THE OFFING THIS SUMMER?

I'm currently trying to plan one. I've never been to Ibiza or Las Vegas, and it's almost a rite of passage for glamour girls to visit those two locations. It seems like Rosie Jones and India Reynolds are there every week! All I hear about are tales of partying all day and night, so I definitely need to see what all the fuss is about. Plus, I need to complete my Mile High Club mission.

SO YOU'RE NOT A FULL MEMBER YET?

I attempted it once but it all went a bit wrong. Sneaking around was exciting but once we got in there, we could barely move and I ended up sitting on a tap the whole time. For now, I'd say I'm a member of the Half-Mile High Club!

DO YOU ENJOY A SPOT OF TRAVELLING?

I do. I've been to the Playboy Mansion a couple of times. It was so much fun and the day's theme meant there were loads of girls wearing nothing but bodypaint. I couldn't get over how artistic and sexy it was. I'd love to give that a go. ➤

“Bodypaint is so sexy.
I want to do it with a ZOO vest!”

SOPHIE
READE!
SHE'S BACK AND
ONLY IN ZOO!

WHAT WOULD YOUR
"OUTFIT" OF CHOICE BE?

The famous ZOO vest, of course! That would look good, wouldn't it? A corset and classic Playboy Bunny would be pretty hot, too. Hugh Hefner was very polite and came over to chat. I think he wanted me to shoot for them, but you have to leave a little to the imagination...

ABSOLUTELY. NOW, ON TO BIG BROTHER: HAVE YOU BEEN WATCHING?

I have. I really like Ashleigh. She's very hot and isn't shy about putting her opinion across, which is what it's all about. I was really bubbly when I went in and I think that's why people took to me, along with the fact I pretty much spent three months prancing around in my bikini! You should consider a shoot with the two of us when she comes out. Us BB blondes must stick together!

WHAT IS YOUR ABIDING
MEMORY OF YOUR TIME IN THE HOUSE?

Having to change my name by Deed Poll to Dogface! It's funny, because people still call me that. Some lads have turned it into a positive now and I've lost count of the number of tweets I get saying, "Hey Dogface, show us your puppies!" →

"I can't find bras which fit
me. My boobs have got massive!"

SOPHIE
READE!
SHE'S BACK AND
ONLY IN ZOO!

“The key to my heart? A bubble bath and a McDonald’s breakfast!”

DOES IT HAPPEN WHEN YOU'RE OUT AND ABOUT AS WELL?

To be honest, most people recognise me for getting my boobs out these days rather than Big Brother, which I guess is no big surprise! I'm from a tiny town called Nantwich where not much goes on, so people tend to know your business.

YOU'VE CERTAINLY PUT IT ON THE MAP...

Sometimes, I wonder whether they'd be willing to have me on the sign as you enter the town. “Welcome to Nantwich – home of Sophie Reade”! We should get my ZOO cover on there, although I'm not convinced the locals would be too happy with that!

YOU'VE HAD A COUPLE OF CELEBRITY BOYFRIENDS. ANY MORE RECENT APPROACHES?

Footballers are on it all the time, but they're effectively just boys with lots of money, aren't they? A few singers have been in touch before – and one of One Direction asked me out. SURELY NOT THAT HARRY STYLES CHAP?

Ha ha! No, it was Zayn – but before he got with the girl from Little Mix. I turned him down at the time as he was far too young, but I'm guessing he's a bit more experienced these days! If you want to woo me, just be sure to provide a McDonald's breakfast in the morning. ➤

"I'm desperate to see Ibiza – and join the Mile High Club!"

ARE YOU A FAN?

Absolutely. I'm a bit of a tomboy, so I can be quite partial to a cheeky kebab, too. My perfect night is drinks, kebab shop, bubble bath with wine, then a good morning McMuffin. Job done – I'm all yours! I'm anything but high maintenance!

GOOD TO KNOW.

ANYTHING ELSE YOU ENJOY?

I'm really into darts. Phil Taylor lives around the corner from me and I always watch it when it's on. It's a great night out, too! Aside from that, I just enjoy my modelling. It makes me feel sexy and I love being in the mag! Plus, it's good to play dress-up, isn't it? Or in this instance, I suppose it'd be more like dress-down!

TRUE. LASTLY, WE MUST

TOUCH ON YOUR SURNAME. DO YOU LIKE TO READ A LOT?

Nice! I have to admit that I do love a naughty novel and I couldn't get enough of the 50 Shades trilogy. Once you start reading them, you can't stop! I can't wait for the film to come out next year and if it's successful, I might pitch a follow-up film or TV series called 50 Shades Of Sophie. Now that would be a hit!

“Pitbull’s no rapper. He’s a salad!”

Fulham’s fun-loving chart-topper discusses cold feet,
Tinder celebrities and free popcorn

H I, EXAMPLE. FESTIVAL SEASON IS IN FULL SWING. HOW'S THE SCHEDULE?

I'm currently in the middle of 12 gigs in 13 days! Each show is more than an hour on stage, so it's a bit like playing 12 football matches in a couple of weeks.

HOW DO YOU STAY MATCH-FIT?

Well, it's hard to avoid staying up all night when you're in Ibiza and Majorca – and there's a table full of booze waiting for you! I tend to go mad at a select few and then have a couple of beers at the rest. I can't do every night – that's when you end up in rehab and need a year off.

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN DRUNK ON STAGE?

Back in the day, I thought that was what you did. I remember being sat in a pub with Mike Skinner, Pete Doherty and Amy Winehouse, and it was all about who could do the most booze and drugs and stay awake the longest. Before a gig, I'd sink four cans of Stella, have a dab of MDMA, be off my trolley and lose my voice. I don't want that any more.

SO DO YOU HAVE A ROUTINE NOW?

I do stretches and vocal warm-ups for 15 minutes each, then I'll ice my feet after performing, before heading back to the hotel for six hours' sleep ahead of the next flight. It's like that all summer.

"It's weird when fans have my lyrics as a tattoo. They all choose mad fonts!"

SORRY – ICE YOUR FEET?

Yeah. I injured my Achilles in 2012 and don't want to cancel six months of gigs again! I also pull compression socks over my knees and was given some Nike Free Runs to wear, rather than the flat-soled trainers I used to have.

THAT MUST BE A NICE FREEBIE?

The free car is amazing, too! You never know what will turn up. The other day, I had 100 bags of gourmet popcorn waiting for me, probably because a PR had seen a picture of me with a bag at some point. I even got a delivery of tea bags, so they end up being dished around family and friends.

HOW DO YOU FIND LIFE AS A SUPER-FAMOUS CELEBRITY NOW?

Sometimes I get 100 people shout at me a day, and I must pose for about 40 selfies in that time. Some people shake as you hug them and some just stand and stare. I find it weird when fans have my lyrics as a tattoo. It's humbling, but sometimes they've chosen mad fonts and I think, "You really should have gone for a better font – or just made it smaller."

THE WORLD CUP HAS JUST FINISHED. DID YOU ENJOY IT?

It was great watching the BBC's coverage, but I thought ITV got it all wrong. Someone tweeted

THE CARDS, THEN?

No. And likewise with Ke$ha. When they collaborated on Timber, they made the worst song in history and it was by the two artists I like the least. I thought it was about Tinder to start with. That would have been more interesting.

YOU'RE MARRIED, BUT DO YOU KNOW ANYONE WHO USES TINDER?

I only know three people who do: a singer, a rugby player and a footballer. They're not A-list, but they pick girls up on it all the time. The footballer picked up 10 girls in a week! Someone also found a girl on there who's basically me in a wig.

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY IN THE PAST FEW YEARS. DOES ONE

MOMENT STAND OUT?

Doing festivals in front of 60,000 people is memorable, but the stories of gigs and No1 singles aren't that interesting to other people. It's when you say, "I met Gary Lineker the other day," that people want to know all about it! I never thought Jack Nicholson would buy me a glass of whisky, either. That was pretty cool.

TALKING OF COOL, DOES WINNING OUR COOLEST MAN OF THE YEAR AWARD REMAIN YOUR BIGGEST ACHIEVEMENT?

Ha ha, of course! Idris Elba thought it was funny. I dropped him a text at the time and said, "I can't believe I've beaten you." He was like, "Yeah, I know. It's hilarious. I've been wanting that award forever!"

"Jack Nicholson bought me a glass of whisky!"

a picture of a Belgian fan who looked identical to me and there was a comment that I looked like half of the Algerian team. It must be a lips, teeth and nose thing.

HOW COME YOU TWEETED A PICTURE OF YOURSELF DRESSED AS RAPPER PITBULL FROM THE OPENING CEREMONY?

I don't think he's regarded as a rapper, is he? He's just a bit of a joke. He's a salad, which is one of the worst put-downs you can give. I nicked it from Kasabian. SO AN "EXAMPLE FEAT. PITBULL" TRACK ISN'T ON

Daisy Josie

Bum legend Daisy Watts has discovered a saucy sidekick – and that means double trouble!

BUDDIES!

A photograph of two women in lingerie. The woman in the foreground has long, wavy blonde hair and is wearing a white lace-trimmed bra and matching panties. She is looking over her shoulder with a slight smile. The woman behind her has long, dark brown hair and is wearing a pink polka-dot bra and matching panties. She is also looking over her shoulder. They are both lying on a bed with white sheets and a brown, patterned pillow. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

Obvious statement of the day: two girls are better than one. And in the case of these cute cohorts, there can be no finer friendship.

On one hand, we have Daisy: established ZOO alumni with a bum you crowned Britain's best. On the other is brand-spanking new Josie, who had us jumping for joy at her delightful debut.

Stick the pair in a bedroom with nothing but some skimp and their own free will and, well, the world is simply a much better place. Especially when they're happy to reveal a few home truths...

We first met each other...

JOSIE "At a promotional event. They wanted us to dress in a sophisticated manner, but the top they gave me revealed my entire cleavage – so Daisy loaned me one of hers. If you think about it, this friendship was initially based all around boobs. It set a suitable tone!"

DAISY "I remember that! I couldn't have her exposed to the world immediately – I wanted that to be my privilege! After initially putting clothes on her, I've now become an expert at taking them off!"

I love Daisy because...

JOSIE "She has the juiciest lips I've ever come across, and they're really good for kissing. They're actually quite bouncy – a bit like her butt!"

"We're perfect together. We're a blend of nice but naughty!"

We've had some mad nights together...

JOSIE "After one shoot, we went out and ended up on a week-long bender! Daisy's quite a madcap gal – don't fall for her innocence! The two of us are a perfect blend of nice, yet naughty!"

DAISY "Our first proper night was my birthday. Josie came out on her own and stayed at my house. That might seem normal, but she didn't leave for three days! We became quite familiar with each other during that time..."

I love Josie because...

DAISY "She's wild and crackers – with splendidly pert boobies! She's got that mix of being cute and pretty, but also super-sexy. I think we've found a good 'un!"

A photograph of two women in lingerie. One woman, on the left, is wearing light blue lace-trimmed underwear and has her legs wrapped around the other woman. The woman on the right is wearing a white lace-trimmed top and white lace-trimmed underwear. They are both laughing and looking at each other. They are standing in front of a white wall with a grid pattern.

*“Daisy has the juiciest lips ever.
They’re perfect for kissing!”*

This is my ZOO debut...

JOSIE “And the lure of rolling around with Daisy is exactly what tempted me to do it! I’ve been known to whip my kit off in public, but I’ve never done it in front of the camera before. To do it in such a saucy fashion with my best bud was exhilarating!”

Daisy is a ZOO legend...

JOSIE "She's welcoming me into the family. We muck around like this all the time and I think her stealing my bra shows how comfortable we are! I guess you could say I'm her protégé – which is the most polite way to put it!"

DAISY "I like the sound of having a protégé – it makes me feel powerful! It's fun shooting with a friend, as you can grab boobs, pinch bums and jump all over each other. Mischief and corruption is in full effect when we're together!"

THE BEST, BIGGEST AND FUNNIEST STORIES

"I still think I'm better than Froch!"

He's back at Wembley and back in business. Now George Groves tells ZOO why his comeback will upset Carl Froch, mean the world to James DeGale and be another unmissable show

GEORGE, WELCOME BACK TO THE WORLD TITLE TRAIL. IS THE MANTRA STILL "EVERYTHING FOR A REASON"?

It's still "Everything for a reason" – you just won't hear me saying it as much! But I still believe I'm going to be world champion; it just might take a little longer than anticipated. One punch ended my most-recent attempt, but only for that night because the very next day, I was on the phone to my promoter Kalle Sauerland plotting my next move.

IS IT WISE GOING STRAIGHT IN WITH A EUROPEAN CHAMP LIKE CHRISTOPHER REBRASSE AFTER THE WAY YOU LOST TO CARL FROCH?

This is the perfect fight for me! It's for a European title and it's a final eliminator for a shot at the WBC title. It's a must-win and there's plenty of incentive for both fighters. I approach my boxing like high stakes gambling; sometimes it pays off and sometimes you end up losing big, too. I haven't changed that mentality.

HAVE YOU WORKED OUT HOW YOU'RE GOING TO PLAY MIND GAMES WITH SOMEONE WHO SPEAKS FRENCH?

Maybe I'll pull out some Del Boy-style French and leave him to try and work it out. Fortunately, my fights do not always revolve around mind games. It's more so the media have something to write about and fans have something to talk about. Mind games or not, I'm sure I'll get the job done.

WILL IT BE HARD FIGHTING AT WEMBLEY ARENA WHEN YOU SOLD OUT THE STADIUM LAST TIME OUT?

It's great for the fans who came last time because they'll know their way around. Sauerland Promotion have a history of putting on great events and we want to set a precedent in the UK so anybody who wants to come down will be part of a great event.

CAN YOU TOP THE BUS?

Ha ha! That's one thing I think is important. As a fight fan, I remember more of Naseem Hamed's entrances than I do his fights.

Matchroom and Wembley both said no to the bus – we had to campaign to get it. The little things mean a lot to the guy on the street. So we'll be giving value for money and we'll top the bus. Maybe we'll get a triple-decker!

IS THE BAD BLOOD BETWEEN YOU AND FROCH OVER NOW?

Who knows? You'll have to ask him. In his first interview the following day, he was sat in his study in the dark counting his money, asking me to crawl back down the hole I came out of. He'll be gutted to hear that I'm back in action and haven't retired.

WHAT DID YOU GUYS SPEAK ABOUT IN THE RING AFTER THE FIGHT?

He probably gave me a pep

"I'll top the bus – maybe we'll get a triple-decker this time!"

GEORGE GROVES EXCLUSIVE!

talk and patronised me a lot after I'd just knocked him about for two fights. He got the win and because of that, I know when to be polite and give credit where credit is due. But ultimately, I still think I'm much better than Carl Froch. If the Froch fight happens again, which I hope it does, I'll beat him and set the record straight.

"Froch will be gutted to hear I've not retired!"

ANOTHER OF YOUR DETRACTORS WHO HAD A GREAT NIGHT ON 31 MAY WAS JAMES DeGALE. IS THAT A FIGHT YOU'RE INTERESTED IN?

Right now, James DeGale doesn't bring anything to the table for me. He was walking around Wembley with a big smile on his face because I got knocked out, but his world revolves around me. He'd better hope I win the WBC belt and give him a chance, or he'll be back fighting in a Bristol leisure centre. But I wish him well; what a fantastic fighter.

YOUR FIGHT WITH CARL GAINED YOU SOME NEW CELEBRITY MATES, LIKE JAMES CORDEN. ARE THEY STILL IN TOUCH?

No, they all dumped me! I had a few texts of good wishes and I had more that said "hard luck". It's nice people took time out to send messages like that. I never take it for granted that people support me.

Hopefully lots of people will turn out to see me back at Wembley.

Sport in selfie-destruction!

After selfie-snapping fans were slammed for endangering riders during the Tour de France, ZOO outlines the threat camera phones pose to sport

Putting athletes' safety at risk

Bunched together and going full pelt around a narrow country lane, the last thing any cyclist wants to have to do is dodge a fan armed with a camera phone. Team Sky rider Geraint Thomas wasn't impressed during the York leg of the Tour de France, stating, "The worst thing is when people have their backs to the peloton taking selfies. There have been too many big accidents with riders hitting spectators and you don't want to see that."

The hardest thing for goalkeepers is to stay focused. They might be standing around for ages, but they need to be ready for that split second when they are called upon. Not Scunthorpe's Sam Slocombe, who was pictured in this fan's selfie, with his side 5-0 up against Portsmouth last season. The game finished 5-1.

A team that trains together and eats together usually wins together. If the boys from Brazil spent more time actually eating and practicing how not to concede four goals in six minutes, rather than taking the perfect selfie, then they might not have broken so many hearts in the home of the beautiful game.

Taking away competitive edge

If you want to be No1 in the tensest individual sport on the planet, then you have to overthrow the man in that spot. You have to gun him down with vicious serves, accurate forehands, deceptive volleys and ferocious backhands. Not take bezzie photos with him!

Ruining celebrations

Nothing beats the pure joy of seeing your favourite player smashing one into the net and wheeling off to perform his trademark celebration, whether it be kissing every square inch of his arm or saluting the crowd. It might all be for the cameras, but actually grabbing a camera to capture the moment, like Sporting Kansas City striker Dom Dwyer, is a step too far. Especially for the ref, who booked him.

Deterring future stars

How do you expect to keep participation numbers up when the sport's top stars are always documenting their horrific injuries? Having equalled legend Anderson Silva for number of post-fight bonuses, UFC supremo Dana White would probably prefer battle-hardened fighter Joe Lauzon to post snaps about the truckloads of cash he's making, rather than injuries he's collecting.

Cursing players

When you're a top player looking forward to the World Cup, you'd do well to stay away from cursed people, as Marco Reus, Franck Ribery, Lucas Moura and Samir Nasri found out to their detriment. This fan was labelled as a bad omen after taking selfies with all of them before injury or omission ended their dreams.

Secrets of an F1 grand prix team!

We go behind the scenes at Lotus F1's Silverstone HQ to uncover the hidden dramas in the battle to secure that coveted chequered flag

Lotus F1's Silverstone HQ!

Set-up

The motorhomes are ferried around on articulated trucks and arrive at the track the Saturday night before race week. They are set up throughout Sunday and Monday, while the cars arrive on Tuesday. The engineers and drivers rock up on the Wednesday.

Motorhome hospitality

With motorhomes only allowed on European circuits, the team like to make the most of them over the race weekend. For grands prix further afield, they have to make use of the local facilities, which are not always five-star, as Lotus' Head Of Partnerships Management, Francois Puentes explains.

“Interlagos in Brazil is a historic track, but that means the facilities are historic as well.

“You can probably get 12 people in your station, whereas we can host up to 90 people for dinner in the motorhomes.”

Media walk

Silverstone is one of the few circuits where the motorhomes are set up directly opposite the team garages. Usually, the motorhome or team bases are set away from the pit lane – meaning drivers in transit are often left vulnerable to baying media attention.

Long hours

F1 implemented curfews to stop people working endless hours over a race weekend. Team members would often labour for 48 hours straight, so now each team gets four wild cards a season where they can break curfew. Lotus used one in Australia after struggling to get the car ready for the season opener. But it's not all bad, as reserve driver Charles Pic explains. "When Romain Grosjean heard the boys had been working through the night, he turned up at practice with a tray of coffees and breakfast for everyone."

Tests and checks

Everything from tyre use to fuel is closely monitored – not just for performance, but also to ensure regulations are met. Each team is given seven sets of tyres of various compounds which they can try out during practice. They then have to choose five to use over the entire race weekend, and they also have to plan their fuel load, factoring in an extra litre which can be called upon by regulators at any point, from practice to the race itself.

Bonus scheme

Lotus have a special bonus scheme which rewards every team member with an equal amount, regardless of position: the drivers get the same as someone on the assembly line. With 400 people in the Oxfordshire factory and 80 at the racetrack, that's a lot of holidays and new kitchens resting on the shoulders of the two guys in the cars!

How German is Nico Rosberg?

To find out if the Nürburgring hosts his home GP, we put the nationality of Lewis Hamilton's title rival to the test

After winning the British GP, Lewis Hamilton immediately kicked off the mind games for Germany, claiming it's not actually home for teammate, Nico Rosberg.

Lewis quipped, "To be honest, Nico has never actually been in Germany, so it's not really his home race." Nico shot back to clarify he considers himself, "100 per cent German".

So, is it his home race or not? ZOO puts Nico through our bulletproof Teutonic test...

How fit is a UFC fighter?

Ahead of the featherweight's return to the octagon this weekend, we take on Conor McGregor in a fitness test

They're dubbed the most complete athletes in the world, proficient in more forms of martial arts than any other sportsmen. But just how fit are UFC fighters?

Irish phenomenon Conor McGregor has fought back from a horrific knee injury and 336 days of rehab to get back in the octagon. And before "welcoming" Brazilian Diego Brandao to his hometown of Dublin, we decided to take "The Notorious" on in the gym...

Aerobic capacity: Conor had a 61 per cent higher VO<sub>2</sub> max, and 66 per cent greater peak power

Power: 51 per cent higher power-to-weight ratio and 10 per cent higher grip strength than ZOO

Anaerobic capacity: Conor produced enough power to fire 15 light bulbs simultaneously

Strength and endurance: ZOO completed 54 per cent less pull-ups and burpees

HI, CONOR. YOU'VE PROVEN YOU'RE IN TIP-TOP SHAPE. ARE YOU STILL THE "SUPER FREAK OF MOVEMENT"?

I'm even better than I was before! The injury was a blessing in disguise for me, because I'm more aware of my body and injury prevention now. These things will help prolong my career.

THAT EXPLAINS WHY YOU'RE ALMOST TWICE AS FIT AS ZOO, THEN...

Ha ha. I was glad for the competition. My training is all about contact, so for me to do tests like these and get the heart rate going offers the same feeling as when I'm locking someone into a chokehold. I'd definitely do it again to see if I can improve my scores.

YOUR OPPONENT, DIEGO BRANDAO, WAS A LATE REPLACEMENT FOR COLE MILLER. IS HE TOUGHER?

They're both jiu-jitsu fighters primarily, but have different styles and body types, so it's a different challenge. My training is centred on experiencing different body types all the time, so I'm confident I can assess it in the moment and figure out a route to victory.

WHAT'S IT GOING TO BE LIKE TOPPING A SHOW IN YOUR HOMETOWN?

It's going to be special. It will be like a bull pit in that packed O<sub>2</sub> Arena – something my opponent will have never seen before. I relish the pressure. It's preparation for world titles and sold out pay-per-view shows.

SO, WHAT KIND OF PERFORMANCE CAN WE EXPECT FROM YOU ON SATURDAY NIGHT?

I'm going to come out of the gates spinning. I'm going to freeze him with my movement and put him away in whichever way presents itself. I'm looking to go in and create a highlights reel. Brandao's going to hit the deck hard...

2 Mark Cavendish had to pull out of the Tour de France after suffering what injury?

3 Andrew Flintoff's return to Lancashire's Twenty20 side against Worcestershire was his first Red Rose appearance in how many years?

4 Can you name the ex-Italy manager who has taken charge at Galatasaray?

“Scottish Messi” Ryan Gauld, 18, has moved from Dundee United to which foreign club?

6 Birmingham League Third Division side Stratford-upon-Avon are getting help from which high-profile figure?

7 Which Aussie legend had his hand broken by former teammate Brett Lee playing for Rest Of The World against MCC at Lord's?

THE BEST BANTER FROM THE BACK OF THE STANDS

Heaps of trouble

Despite losing 2-1 to Real Salt Lake, New England Revolution boss Jay Heaps still wanted to shake his opposite number's hand at the end of the game. When he couldn't find him, he performed an imaginary handshake instead. Happy Gilmore would be proud.

Red mist

When Norrkoping forward Alhaji Kamara saw red against Orebro in Sweden, instead of contesting the decision with the ref, he ran off the field and down the tunnel as quickly as he could, screaming at the top of his voice. Let's hope he had a very cold shower.

Snappy tatt

First we had bottle openers, then dog muzzles; now a football fan has had a bite mark and “Suarez was ere” tattooed onto his shoulder. His excuse for getting such bad ink? He was off-balance and fell onto the needle. Maybe.

Coining it in

The Royal Dutch Mint are releasing a limited-edition Robin van Persie swan-dive coin, to mark his wonder-goal against Spain at the World Cup. Arjen Robben's swan-dive to win a penalty against Mexico wasn't considered.
